 Dear Debby,

My Dad is a couch potato. He sits in front of the little box after dinner all night without moving much. I'm worrying about his health. He's already overweight. I can't understand why he always asks me to study and read books, but he seldom reads. He doesn't set a good example. What can I do?

Potato's Son

 Dear Potato's son,

Invite your dad to do something with you. For example, you can go jogging or go for a walk in the park after dinner. You two can also help your mom prepare meals or clean the house. After you read a book, tell him about the story. Show him you care about him. He loves you more than he loves TV, I believe.
